

Ringless voicemail is an invasion of privacy. My voicemail is for me to regulate and I should have the ability to control who is leaving messages there. No one would want ringless voicemail to be a reality, everything about it is annoying and wasteful of our time. It is bad enough that cell phone numbers have been exposed to telemarketers, now there is no refuge.